Outpatient lab services temporarily unavailable at the La Ronge Health Centre

Individuals who are coming to the La Ronge Health Centre for non-urgent blood work are asked to call first. Because of a provincial computer system failure, only emergency and in-patient lab services are presently available. This does not affect x-rays, ultrasounds and ECGs.

This disruption affects a number of hospitals and the provincial provider of the system is working to resolve the situation as quickly as possible. An update will be issued when the service is restored.

In the meantime, to check whether or not you can receive lab blood work services, please call the La Ronge Health Centre at 425-2422. Thank you for your patience and understanding.
